BOMB DESIGNED FOR ITALIAN KING TAKES TOLL AT MILAN FAIR

Machine Meant For Mussolini Found Before Blast

PARIS, April 12.—Alleged plots to assassinate King Victor Emanuel and Premier Mussolini, of Italy, the former resulting in a bomb outrage in Milan which cost the lives of fourteen persons were reported from Milan and Rome today.

A bomb was exploded in Place Julius Cesare, Milan, at 10 o'clock this morning just before the arrival of King Victor Emanuel to inaugurate a trade fair. Fourteen persons were killed and forty were wounded.

At the same time a dispatch from Rome reported that a bomb was found upon the railway tracks near Como, Italy, just before a train carrying Premier Mussolini was due to pass.

Mussolini was returning to Rome. A man who was holding a detonator wire was arrested. This bomb was discovered several days ago, it is understood, as Mussolini was in Rome yesterday where he held an interview with S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations payments under the Dawes plan.

The perpetrators of the bomb outrage in Milan acted with the utmost boldness. The streets through which the Italian king was to pass were lined with soldiers and police, but the bomber or bombers were able to smuggle the infernal machine into the closely packed square where it exploded.

LONDON, April 12.—Panic followed the explosion of a high power bomb in Milan today just before the arrival of King Victor Emanuel to open the Milan trade fair, said a Central News dispatch from Paris.

The Milan streets, through which the king was to pass, were thronged. The explosion was of terrific force. It was immediately followed by sensational rumors. The authorities quickly conferred and decided not to change the king's plans. Consequently the exhibition was opened according to program.

As Illinois primary election returns rolled in, the Republican forces of Senator Charles S. Deane claimed that they had smashed the "machine" of Governor Len Small-Major William H. Thompson. Victory was claimed for Louis Lincoln Emmerson, top over Len Small for the gubernatorial nomination; right center, Judge John A. Swanson, over Robert Emmett Crowe for state attorney; below, Otis F. Glenn, lawyer, over Frank L. Smith, for U. S. senator; while Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, left center, obtained the nomination for congresswoman-at-large.

Levine's check for $150,000 is in the hands of the department of justice, but has not as yet been finally accepted. Both the government and Levine's attorneys have agreed on the amount but some legal details of the contract, which must be signed, have not been worked out.

Officials said that as the differences are minor the controversy probably would be adjusted and a final settlement reached within a short time.

The claim against Levine arose from a surplus war material contract. The question was raised as to whether the government or Levine should pay certain freight charges, and as to the use to which the materials were put by the purchaser.

About the time Clarence Chamberlain, with Levine as a passenger, prepared to hop-off for Europe, the department of justice threatened to bring suit against Levine in the federal courts. Action was postponed, however, after the successful flight to Germany, and the government agreed to resume negotiations looking to a compromise after Levine's return.

As the result of his differences with the government Levine lost several air mail contracts. Although he had submitted low bids the post office department declined to award the contracts, or to consider his bids until the government's claim was settled.

NEW YORK, April 12.—There will be no successor to the late Chauncey M. Depew as chairman of the board of directors of the New York Central Railroad, the directors have decided.

The office will be discontinued, they said.

A memorial resolution on the long service of Mr. Depew was adopted by the board of directors of the New York Central, Michigan Central and Big Four Railroads.

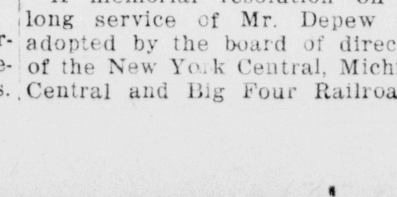

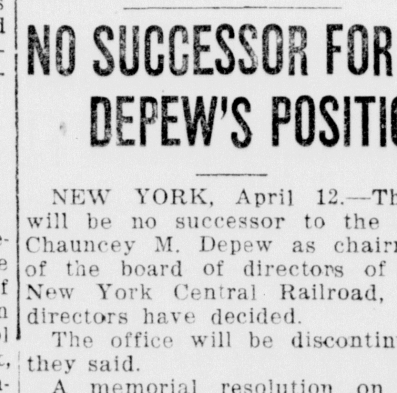

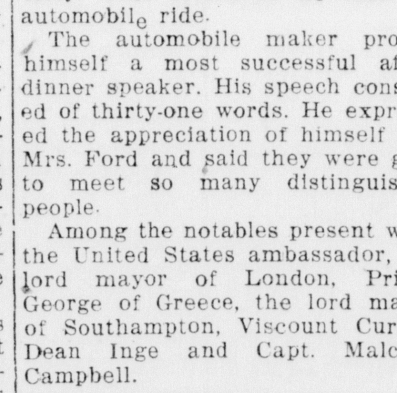

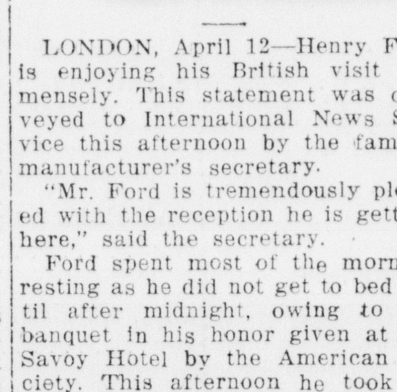

FOUR DROWN AS AUTO OVERTURNS IN CREEK

WILMINGTON, Del., April 12.—Two young couples were drowned in a mill-race here during the night police revealed today with the finding of their automobile overturned in the creek. The machine is believed to have skidded off a drive during a sleet and snow storm last night.

The bodies were recovered early today and taken to the city morgue. The victims were thought to be Ernest Scott, Wilmington, Bernard Jackson, Newark, Del., Miss Eleanor Burnham, also of Newark and a girl believed to be Miss Burnham's sister. The youths were about 22 years of age and the girls about 18 years, police said.

BUT ONE POINT HOLDS UP VOTE ON FARM RELIEF

Predict Passage By Night; Debate Advisory Council

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Only one major point, involving whether the power to select advisory councils shall be lodged in President Coolidge or in the proposed federal farm board, stood in the way today of a final vote in the senate on the new McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

Farm bloc leaders predicted the bill would be enacted before nightfall by a big majority and sent to the house tomorrow. On the only test vote taken so far, a combination of western and southern senators adopted a friendly amendment by a vote of 42 to 30. It indicated the final vote would show the bill commands less than the two-thirds majority, required to enact it over a presidential veto.

Friendly amendments smoothed away nearly all of the southern opposition to the bill and insured its enactment by the senate. As it stood this morning, the bill provided:

A fund of $400,000,000 to stabilize farm prices and market surplus crops, with $150,000,000 set aside for the exclusive handling of cotton.

Creation of a federal farm board, to be named by the president and confirmed by the senate, to initiate federal relief for any crop.

Inclusion of the equalization fee, to be determined by the board and applied whenever the government undertakes to market a surplus crop.

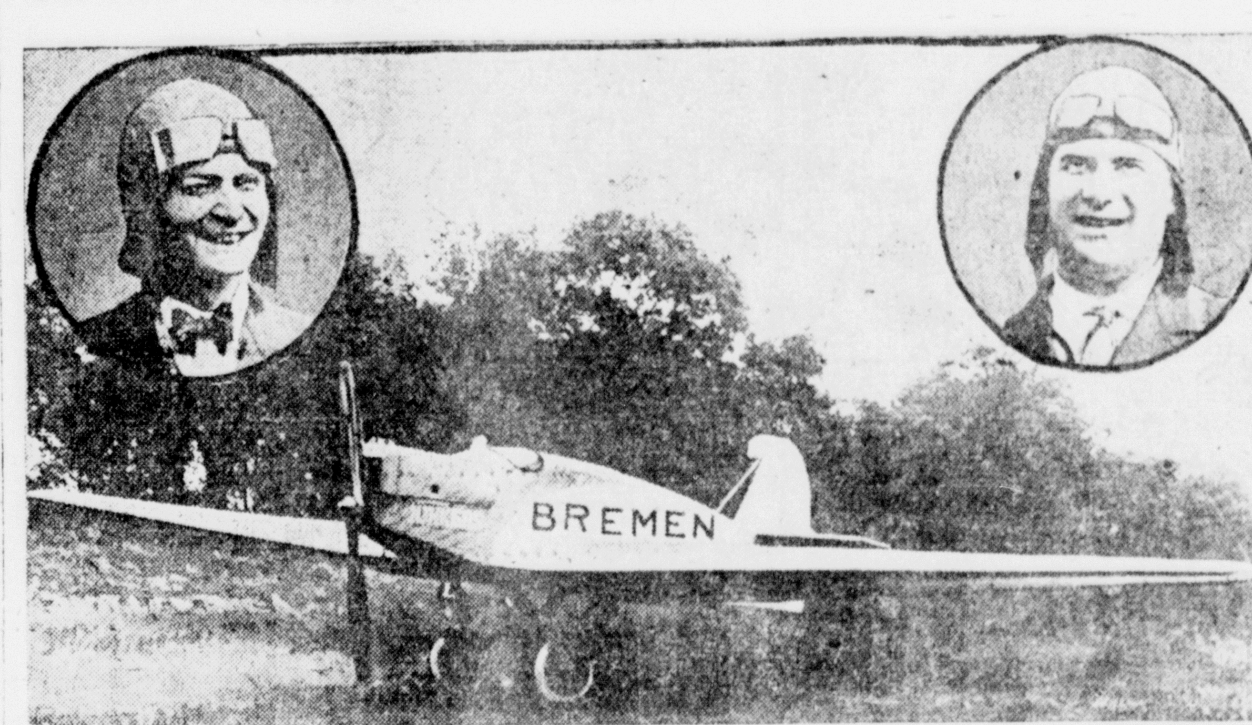

Government loans to co-operative associations, through the board, to aid in marketing surplus crops.

Creation of advisory councils for each major crop, armed with the authority to veto any action of the board when its own crop is affected.

Creation of public clearing houses and terminal marketing associations to aid in handling crops and to prevent gluts or famines.

The method of selecting advisory councils, one for each major crop, featured the closing debate.

GERMANS BRAVE ATLANTIC IN WESTWARD HOP

The German Junkers monoplane, upper left, is observer and Koehl, upper right, and Commander Fitzmaurice, are the pilots. The plane is equipped to remain aloft for forty-six hours, which should be sufficient, if no serious weather is encountered to bring it to Mitchell Field, N. Y., within the time allowance.

"SEX APPEAL" NO AID TO WOMEN IN POLITICS

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Keep sex appeal out of politics if you want to win. That is the moral of the smashing Illinois victory of Mrs. Rath Hanna McCormick as seen by members of the house "feminine bloc" today.

"Women should always campaign as persons—not women," said Mrs. Florence Kahn, (R) of California, "understand that's what Mrs. McCormick did."

"I have always refused to recognize sex in politics and I find that both men and women resent any other attitude. If Mrs. McCormick had appealed for support solely as a woman she probably would have lost."

Mrs. Katherine Langley (R) of Kentucky, the newest addition to the "feminine bloc" in congress, had the same view.

"It may be that back in the days when Jeannette Rankin of Montana was the first woman congresswoman that people voted for a woman because of her sex but those days are past," said Mrs. Langley. "My own campaign experience convinced me that women of the country are taking their suffrage seriously and they may be just as severe on a woman candidate as on a man."

"It may be that women believed there should be some representation in official life of their sex because they think some feminine influence is beneficial, but I believe they generally vote for whoever they think will fill the position best."

While Mrs. McCormick has a hard election fight between her primary victory and a seat in congress, her victory caused many congressional tongues to wag over the possibility of women soon taking up a considerable number of the 435 seats in the lower house.

Mrs. Kahn believes that women will win victories until the "feminine bloc" of four is increased to fifteen or twenty and then their victories will end.

"I do not believe that there ever will be anything like a majority of women in congress," she said. She declined to say why.

Daring Bremen Crew Made Careful Preparations—Three Previous Attempts Have Ended Fatally

Promise Of Good Weather To Mid-Atlantic Sends Flyers On Daring Trial—Koehl, Fitzmaurice And Von Huenefeld On Trip.

LONDON, April 12.—The transatlantic monoplane Bremen passed over Galway on the west coast of Ireland at 7:05 a. m. (English Time) today, according to a Central News dispatch from Galway.

The plane was flying strongly in a northwesterly direction. It was seen later over Costelloe, twenty miles west of Galway, heading westward towards the Atlantic.

DUBLIN, April 12.—Determined to be the first to span the Atlantic Ocean in a westward flight, Capt. Hermann Koehl, Commandant James E. Fitzmaurice, and Baron Ehrenfried Von Huenefeld, hopped off from the Baldonnel airfield for America in the Junkers monoplane Bremen at 5:38 a. m. today.

Capt. Koehl handled the "joy-stick" at the take-off. Commandant Fitzmaurice, chief of the Irish Free state air force, who was to act as relief pilot, sat next to him. Von Huenefeld went along as observer.

While a crowd of several hundred soldiers on the field cheered, the heavily-loaded plane, lifted gracefully from the field and headed westward.

President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State shook hands with them before they hopped off.

After weeks of reports of misadventure, the Bremen is now on its way.

FLYER'S MOTHER ILL
BERLIN, April 12.—Von Huenefeld, mother of the bomber, is ill, it was learned today.

News that her son was going along with Captain Koehl as official observer, was kept from her.

She will not be informed of his departure until the Bremen either lands in America or is given up for lost.

able weather the fliers were greatly elated last night when they learned that conditions as far west as the mid-Atlantic were perfect for a transatlantic flight.

At dawn, Koehl and his companions came on the field smiling broadly and showing little nervousness. Von Huenefeld was as happy as a youngster and pointed to his sun breaking through the clouds. "The fliers will take the north as 'Great Circle' route usually used by transatlantic fliers."

ARRIVE ON FRIDAY
If they maintain the schedule they have set for themselves the fliers should pass Newfoundland early tomorrow morning and arrive at Mitchell Field sometime tomorrow afternoon.

Before partaking of a heavy breakfast, Father O'Farlan, chaplain at the airfield, gave them holy communion.

Koehl was the first of the fliers to reach the plane. He carried a German flag. He took his seat in the cockpit.

Fitzmaurice, carrying an Irish flag, and Von Huenefeld followed in order.

The Bremen was accompanied to the coast by a small Napier plane carrying Captain Carroll and Lieutenant Russell of the Irish Free state air force.

The fliers' food supply consisted of many sandwiches, and strong coffee and beef tea.

WEATHER PERFECT
Officials at the field declared that on no previous flight attempt from Baldonnel had conditions been more perfect.

While the plane's engine roared steadily, the Irish tricolor broke out alongside the German flag as the plane disappeared.

Koehl made his decision to take the northern route because of reports of bad weather centering to the southward. He stated that he expected the plane would average nine miles an hour.

Fitzmaurice's wife was at the airport to bid him goodbye.

The Bremen, a 10-engine, aluminum, single-motored monoplane, is a standard Junkers model. It has a wing spread of 105 feet, three engines and an overall length of 100 feet. It has a maximum speed of 100 m. p. h. and a cruising speed of 70 m. p. h.

It is capable of a top speed of 120 miles an hour. Its cruising speed is about nine to ten miles an hour. Average flying conditions will, of course, reduce this speed.

CAN FLY 48 HOURS
The plane is capable of flying 48 hours on a tank of gasoline. Sufficient to keep it aloft about 100 to 120 hours. The fuel being used is a specially prepared benzol-charged petrol of high volatility.

The plane's motor is said to be capable of developing 400 horsepower. It is the same type of motor as that used by the German aviators who set the endurance record of fifty-two hours and twenty-three minutes which was recently broken by Sinsout and Rasmussen in the flight over Jacksonville, Fla.

The plane carries no radio equipment.

Fitzmaurice will spell Koehl every few hours on the flight. Von Huenefeld will man the gas pumps and keep a log of the flight.

LONDON, April 12.—The British Air Ministry today advised international news service that the three fliers now enacting a westward transatlantic flight will meet slight head-winds during the early stages of their hop.

Westerly winds of medium proportions prevail over the Atlantic today, the Air Ministry stated.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 12.—Poor weather conditions await the three fliers who are now attempting a westward transatlantic flight from Baldonnel Airfield to America in the Junkers monoplane Bremen.

Strong southerly winds were blowing off the coasts of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland this morning. A heavy rain was falling and the temperature was low.

Weather forecasts further indicated that the winds probably would increase to gale proportions and the rain would continue it is feared that the combination of rain and low temperatures will cause the formation of sleet on the wings of the plane.

Dispute

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Settlement of the government's claim of $500,000 against Charles E. Levine, transatlantic flyer and aircraft manufacturer, for $150,000 virtually has been arranged it was learned today.

Levine's check for $150,000 is in the hands of the department of justice, but has not as yet been finally accepted. Both the government and Levine's attorneys have agreed on the amount but some legal details of the contract, which must be signed, have not been worked out.

IMPROVED BORDER PATROL WILL GREET SMUGGLERS ON LAKE

CLEVELAND, O., April 12.—Smugglers, particularly liquor runners will find it difficult this summer to run the gauntlet of the border patrol on the Great Lakes, it was revealed here with the return of Robert Burri, head of the border patrol with headquarters in Cleveland from Washington. Burri's several recommendations for the improvement of the border patrol was approved by the government after Burri and Arthur P. Fenton, customs collector for the Cleveland district conferred with Frank Dow, assistant United States commissioner of customs.

Border patrol members after July 1, will be divorced from all prohibition enforcement agencies and will become custom agents, with enforcement of all smuggling laws as their duty, particularly of course, rum running, according to Burri.

The innovation on the Great Lakes by the patrol as recommended by Burri is:

Sub patrol stations to be established at Erie, Pa., and Toledo, O., these stations to begin operations May 1.

One speedboat, one cruiser and two automobiles will be stationed regularly for use at each patrol or sub-patrol station for use in chasing rum runners.

Sixty coast guard boats will be put on duty on Lake Erie alone; and Burri was assured that coast guards would co-operate with his border patrol men.

Coast guard seizures will be turned over to the customs collector.

Customs agents and border patrolmen will have authority to board any boat and seize contraband material in addition to prohibited liquor.

Radio Revue

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to Gazette

NEW YORK, April 12.—The answer of the so-called "big interests" to the charge that they are selfishly intent upon grabbing most of the power to the detriment of broadcasting as a whole, as given to this writer by an engineer unauthorized to speak officially, is that "less stations with more power" is the easiest way to insure stabilized reception.

Inconsistency of reception is causing many once ardent fans to lose interest in radio, it is argued. It also is tending to hamper sales of receiving sets to nonusers, for they hear of the complaints of owners, or witness unfavorable demonstrations in homes they visit.

High-powered stations, it is further argued, alleviate the condition to a considerable extent as they generally come in with a signal strength that does not require boosting of the volume control, and naturally this keeps the noise level or background disturbance down to a minimum. Excessive amplification is not required to receive sufficient volume from these stations.

Representative E. L. Davis of Tennessee, author of the equalization amendment to the new radio law, and foe of superpower, contended in his arguments before congress that chain stations need no more than 500 or 1,000 watts, because the same chain program is essentially for local consumption and goes to other sections of the country from other stations, so that long-distance reception is not an element.

The congressman contended that power increases over 5,000 watts do not increase the range of a station proportionately; in fact he said a 50,000-watt station's range of reception is only about seventy-five miles greater than that of a 5,000-watt station.

Granting that the congressman's view is the correct one, there is still the paramount consideration of stable reception. With so many stations on the air, 50,000-watt stations do cause interference on adjacent channels. Reducing the number of broadcasters, the inevitable step that now faces the radio commission, will remedy this condition to a considerable extent. And the rights of radio-listeners must be considered as well as the rights of broadcasters.

Certainly there is no doubt that the radio audience would be unlimited, with resultant greater opportunities for equipment manufacturers and commercial broadcasters, if a listener in any part of the country with a modestly priced set could sit down to enjoy a program and be certain that in all but extraordinary atmospheric conditions there would be stable, consistent reception.

There seem to be considerable advantages to the "less stations with more power plan." It is possible that the experts who are sizing up the situation for the federal radio commission will reach the conclusion that superpower stations are necessary, and there will be more 50,000-watt stations like WEAF and KDKA.

IMPROVED BORDER PATROL WILL GREET SMUGGLERS ON LAKE

CLEVELAND, O., April 12.—Smugglers, particularly liquor runners will find it difficult this summer to run the gauntlet of the border patrol on the Great Lakes, it was revealed here with the return of Robert Burri, head of the border patrol with headquarters in Cleveland from Washington. Burri's several recommendations for the improvement of the border patrol was approved by the government after Burri and Arthur P. Fenton, customs collector for the Cleveland district conferred with Frank Dow, assistant United States commissioner of customs.

Border patrol members after July 1, will be divorced from all prohibition enforcement agencies and will become custom agents, with enforcement of all smuggling laws as their duty, particularly of course, rum running, according to Burri.

The innovation on the Great Lakes by the patrol as recommended by Burri is:

Sub patrol stations to be established at Erie, Pa., and Toledo, O., these stations to begin operations May 1.

One speedboat, one cruiser and two automobiles will be stationed regularly for use at each patrol or sub-patrol station for use in chasing rum runners.

Sixty coast guard boats will be put on duty on Lake Erie alone, and Burri was assured that coast guards would co-operate with his border patrol men.

Coast guard seizures will be turned over to the customs collector.

Customs agents and border patrolmen will have authority to board any boat and seize contraband material in addition to prohibited liquor.

Radio Revue

BY C. KAY

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to Gazette

NEW YORK, April 12.—The answer of the so-called "big interests" to the charge that they are selfishly intent upon grabbing most of the power to the detriment of broadcasting as a whole, as given to this writer by an engineer unauthorized to speak officially, is that "less stations with more power" is the easiest way to insure stabilized reception.

Inconsistency of reception is causing many once ardent fans to lose interest in radio, it is argued. It also is tending to hamper sales of receiving sets to nonusers, for they hear of the complaints of owners, or witness unfavorable demonstrations in homes they visit.

High-powered stations, it is further argued, alleviate the condition to a considerable extent as they generally come in with a signal strength that does not require boosting of the volume control, and naturally this keeps the noise level or background disturbance down to a minimum. Excessive amplification is not required to receive sufficient volume from these stations.

Representative E. L. Davis of Tennessee, author of the equalization amendment to the new radio law, and foe of superpower, contended in his arguments before congress that chain stations need no more than 500 or 1,000 watts, because the same chain program is essentially for local consumption and goes to other sections of the country from other stations, so that long-distance reception is not an element.

The congressman contended that power increases over 5,000 watts do not increase the range of a station proportionately; in fact he said a 50,000-watt station's range of reception is only about seventy-five miles greater than that of a 5,000-watt station.

Granting that the congressman's view is the correct one, there is still the paramount consideration of stable reception. With so many stations on the air, 50,000-watt stations do cause interference on adjacent channels. Reducing the number of broadcasters, the inevitable step that now faces the radio commission, will remedy this condition to a considerable extent. And the rights of radio-listeners must be considered as well as the rights of broadcasters.

Certainly there is no doubt that the radio audience would be unlimited, with resultant greater opportunities for equipment manufacturers and commercial broadcasters, if a listener in any part of the country with a modestly priced set could sit down to enjoy a program and be certain that in all but extraordinary atmospheric conditions there would be stable, consistent reception.

There seem to be considerable advantages to the "less stations with more power plan." It is possible that the experts who are sizing up the situation for the federal radio commission will reach the conclusion that superpower stations are necessary, and there will be more 50,000-watt stations like WEAH and KDKA.

MRS. DALY HOSTESS

AT VAN CLEVE HOTEL

The delicate beauty of the yellow and white combination, with the pastel shades of spring flowers adding an effective note, emphasized the charm of the luncheon-bridge entertained by Mrs. John E. Daly, W. Second St., in the Gold Room of the new Van Cleve Hotel, Dayton, Tuesday.

Mrs. Daly entertained twenty-six luncheon guests and five tables of bridge were in progress during the afternoon hours.

Lighted tapers cast a pretty glow over the scene, with its myriad of spring flowers and the party was handsomely appointed throughout.

Your Hands Speak

By Edna Wallace Hopper

While you perform hundreds of commonplace tasks everyone present watches your hands.

You pour tea. You open your purse. You put on your gloves. All day long people watch your hands.

Do your hands speak for you? Do they suggest daintiness? They can be firm, capable and at the same time exquisitely kept with Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Youth Lotion is rubbed into the skin, leaving your hands smooth and dry, so that you can wear gloves immediately after applying. Just keep a bottle on your dressing table and one where you work (in your kitchen, your office or shop). Use it every time you wash your hands.

The pleasurable sense of feeling your skin so satiny—of seeing it so soft and white—is worth a good deal more than the slight effort. The cost is trivial. You can get a large bottle of my Youth Hand Lotion at any toilet counter, 60 cents.

Mr. Harry Marshall, W. Main St., left Thursday morning for Houston, Tex., where he was called to testify at a trial.

Mrs. Clarence Kelly, Stringtown Road, who underwent an operation at St. Elizabeth's hospital, Dayton, a week ago, is slowly improving.

John, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leveck, Hivling St., is ill with tonsillitis.

Mrs. Margaret Whittington, Hoop Road, is recovering from an attack of grip.

Mrs. Frank Hardman, Wilmington Pike, is convalescent after an attack of grip.

Mrs. Frank Davis and infant son, Springfield, have returned home after a ten days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones, E. Third St.

Miss Minnie Haninger who has been spending the winter in Bisbee, Ariz., will arrive home Thursday evening.

Air Traffic Cop

Violators of air traffic rules over the city of Philadelphia will have to keep an eye to the rear in the future for the city has appointed its first air policeman. He is Edward Clarke, shown above, ready to take off for a flight.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps Her So Much

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I was just completely run-down. I had tired, heavy, sluggish feelings and I could not eat. I was losing in weight. I read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and what a good medicine it is, that I started taking it. I have taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and about the same in tablet form. This is one medicine a woman should have in the house all the time. I am improving every day and I sure am able to eat. I am willing to answer any letters asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ELLA RICHARDS, 21 Chautauque St., N. S. Pittsburgh, Pa.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of his 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that have never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

sin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

MRS. DALY HOSTESS

AT VAN CLEVE HOTEL

The delicate beauty of the yellow and white combination, with the pastel shades of spring flowers adding an effective note, emphasized the charm of the luncheon-bridge entertained by Mrs. John E. Daly, W. Second St., in the Gold Room of the new Van Cleve Hotel, Dayton, Tuesday.

Mrs. Daly entertained twenty-six luncheon guests and five tables of bridge were in progress during the afternoon hours.

Lighted tapers cast a pretty glow over the scene, with its myriad of spring flowers and the party was handsomely appointed throughout.

Mrs. C. B. Boda and Mrs. H. L. Boda, both of Dayton, were the only guests of Mrs. Daly outside her Xenia friends.

WY. BRIGID CARD

PARTY VOTED SUCCESS. Coming as a welcome release from the monotony of Lent was the delightful card party entertained at St. Brigid School, Tuesday evening.

The affair was a decided success, thanks to the efficient management of Mrs. Thomas Langan and her assistants. Forty tables were in play and bridge, euchre and five hundred entertained the guests according to their whim.

Mrs. Daisy Rectores and Mr. Oscar Shepard carried off the bridge score trophies; Mrs. Harry Estlin and Mr. Fred Stephens, the euchre prize and Mrs. Mattie Redmon and Mr. John Bruce, the five hundred high score prize.

A two-course luncheon was served after cards.

Your Hands Speak

By Edna Wallace Hopper

While you perform hundreds of commonplace tasks everyone present watches your hands.

You pour tea.

You open your purse. You put on your gloves. All day long people watch your hands.

Do your hands speak for you? Do they suggest daintiness? They can be firm, capable and at the same time exquisitely kept with practically no effort.

Youth Lotion is rubbed into the skin, leaving your hands smooth and dry, so that you can wear gloves immediately after applying.

Just keep a bottle on your dressing table and one where you work.

The cost is trivial. You can get a large bottle of my Youth Hand Lotion at any toilet counter, 60 cents.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature — colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness — and all of them required first a thorough evacuation.

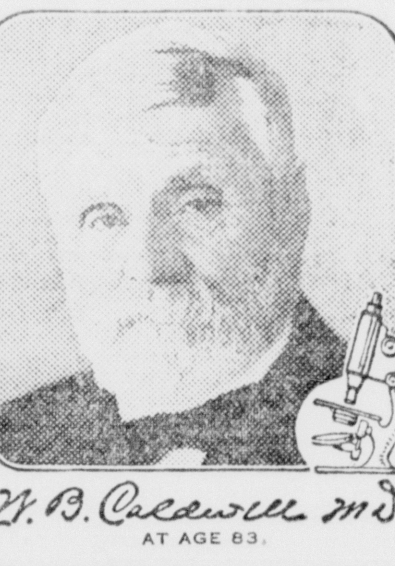

In the course of his 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful private practice. Now, that it has been tried by everyone else failed.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home, — where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

BEWARE—Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done thee no harm. Envy thou not the oppressor, and choose none of his ways.—Prov. 3:30, 31.

MUST BREAK UP "FENCES"

The National Crime commission's bill to ban interstate shipments of stolen property is one proposal that should be expected in the general opposition to placing additional authority and burdens on the Federal government.

While centralized federal authority weakens local state responsibility, there are a few things which the states find it practically impossible to do. One is to efficiently combat interstate transportation of stolen goods, and "fences." Vast quantities of values are stolen in one state, carted to another and sold to "fences" from which they are distributed throughout wide areas.

Coping with that situation is no one-state affair. It involves investigations and getting testimony in several states. The process is cumbersome and expensive, and conflict of jurisdiction opens many avenues of escape for the guilty.

Crime and theft have grown to appalling proportions in the United States. Passage of the National Crime Commission's bill to make it easier to cope with "fences," and more strict enforcement of present laws applying to crime and its punishment, would make the country safer for the honest, law-abiding citizen.

It is estimated that some $500,000,000 worth of stolen goods are disposed of annually through a well organized system of "fences."

The terrific loss to business due to theft is running a close race with fire as a destroyer of national wealth.

CHARACTER IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Much is being said of the importance of character training in educational institutions, from the greatest universities down to the smallest public school in the country.

The essentials of character building are being studied by Child Welfare associations and colleges for the training of students in university and post graduate courses.

The Dean of New York university speaks of character instruction as all-important and that it must never be made a mere classroom exercise, divorced from conduct and conscience.

Dr. John H. Denbigh of Parker Institute, Brooklyn, insists that in our social relationships behavior be made more enlightened, more consistent, more vigorous and less selfish.

Apply this need of stressing character and conduct to our political affairs and the conduct of public officials and we would have better standards in state and national affairs.

MOST EXPENSIVE CLUB

Selling at $357,000 recently, the price of seats on the New York Stock Exchange has doubled in a year's time. Five years ago the high price was $100,000, ten years ago they sold as low as $45,000 and fifty years ago as low as $4,000. At the present price the aggregate value of the 1,100 memberships totals upwards of $400,000,000, and the statement may be substantiated that the Exchange is now the "world's most expensive and richest club."

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

THE LUBRICATOR

A gasoline and oil dealer, operating a service garage in a certain town, has on his sign his name and the word, "Lubricator." If he is a "lubricator" he is following a very fine and useful occupation. This word needs more of them. There are some folks who simply will not fit into any group easily or smoothly. They are opinionated and determined to see that opinion through to victory. They lack tact and diplomacy. Put a lubricator in the group and the situation is saved and at least made tolerable. Even the truth should not be spoken at all times. Silence is frequently more desirable.

CRAZY?

It's well for us to take stock of ourselves now and then and discover the matters that we are at least a little crazy about. You see we are all doubtless a little off balance, a little crazy. Royal Munger, writing in the Chicago Daily News, says:

"Almost every one is at least a little bit crazy, if we accept the term as meaning a perceptible deviation from normal. Some people hate cats, and others get hay fever if they see a picture of a wheat field. Jones is cross all day if his wife unfolds and musses the morning newspaper before he does. Smith can stand most kinds of trouble with a smile, but is likely to insult his best friends if his dinner is delayed half an hour beyond the usual time. Wilkins is reasonable on most subjects, but spendthrift habits make him frantic and he says he would drive his own son out of doors if he caught him living beyond his means. All these are slight abnormalities, but the only line dividing them from insanity is that the same have enough common sense to catch themselves when they get beyond the point of ordinarily sensible behavior."

REMEMBRANCE

One might be greatly surprised if he could look in, unobserved, upon the heart of an average, hum-drum, office-working business man. There are so many things in the hearts of the busiest men and women which are undisclosed to the world. No matter who you are, or where you are, you have an inner life into which no one can quite enter. Perhaps that is human nature, or perhaps that is the divine part in every one of us. Says one of America's sweetest poets:

"I fancy he saw something in the clouds above the trees,
Which the gold and glory seeker passes by and never sees,
And I think he gathered something from the woods and running streams,
Which is just as good as money to the man of many dreams."

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK, April 12.—One does not get a true perspective of the piles of stone and steel that bear the name New York, until one has seen them from the air. From the Woolworth Tower, a human is as insignificant as a fly, from a plane 5,000 feet up, moving 125 miles an hour, the same tower is as unimpressive as city hall in Lexington, Ky. From the air the city's enchantment is enhanced, and one discovers beauties hidden to the wanderer in the skyscraper canyons.

The Daily Worker, published by the Communist party, recently attacked New York dramatic critics because they made fun of "Hoboken Blues," written by a Communist and supposed to be a serious revolutionary play. The Worker explained to its readers that of course the critics were vindictive in their reports because they were hirelings of capitalists. "The Workers" would not allow such a play to survive. Possibly the Worker didn't know that "Hoboken Blues" was produced with money generously advanced by Otto H. Kahn, head of one of the greatest banking houses in the world, and renowned patron of the arts. Kahn is the "angel," or financial banker of numerous "art" theatrical ventures.

Pity the poor millionaire who lives in the country! Roads are so congested with auto traffic that his limousine has to move at a snail's pace going to and from the city. Some wealthy residents of Long Island are avoiding this by commuting in fast motor boats. Harrison Williams, New York banker, is building a 90-mile-an-hour hydroplane, to bring him to his Manhattan office from his Glen Cove, L. I., estate. Another Long Islander makes frequent trips to and from his estate in a seaplane.

In New York the most popular name for girl babies this season appears to be Patricia. Last year it was Barbara, and the year before, Gloria.

The circus isn't what it used to be. While the glittering wagons of the "world's greatest show" were being pulled by hired horses into Madison Square Garden for the final rehearsals before opening the season, the biggest circus man of them all, John Ringling, was up at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, buying Greek antiquities for his home, in Sarasota, Fla.

The horses that pulled the wagons were not prancing Belgians, Percherons and Clydesdales, sleek and dreadnaught-footed, but ill-assorted, bony, unkempt equines such as circus agents were able to find here and there in the city. The circus is going to be here a month, and the efficiency expert of the organization figured it'd be cheaper to hire horses than to feed the regulars here for four weeks.

Whenever the Harlem society arranges a ball, they try to keep it secret in order to avoid being pushed off their own floor by white visitors. The other evening, at the long awaited South Sea Isle Night in the great Savoy ballroom, at Lenox avenue and 141st street, there were almost as many white as black dancers. In describing it, use of the term riot of color is certainly appropriate. The grates costume creations and bizarre atmosphere made it seem like an "Arabian Nights" fantasy. With 3,000 in the crowd, there was no trouble. This seemed to me to be extraordinary, considering the fact that a lot of the whites, many of them notables, seemed looking for trouble.

HUMAN ANTS

Sometimes when I watch a party of ordinary black ants proceeding excitedly about their chores, dashing here and there, and retracing their steps in a haphazard fashion, I wonder without any definite plan, exactly what the average ant is not somewhat overestimated.

Regardless of all the marvelous intelligence attributed to them to impress a thoughtful, unbiased observer as being stupid beyond by scientists, ants are quite likely all necessity. They are industrious, as everybody concedes, energetic and thrifty, but are they truly efficient? Apparently they have a predisposition toward lost motion, and do a lot of running around to no purpose. They behave as creatures willing enough to be on the job, but lacking proper supervision from the main office.

Yet, on the other hand, we may find the ant an unjustified. Maybe they know exactly what they're about. If we go according to mere outward symptoms—movements to and fro and up and down on the earth—human beings seem scarcely more systematic or logical than ants.

Balloons, aviators, and other persons in the habit of roaming the skies, often come to have almost a contempt for mere humans because of our foolish appearance of ant-like aimlessness when seen in the mass.

Nevertheless, people do move about according to law and reason. An individual may not know why he is going in a certain direction, but some force directs his footsteps. The force may be the impetus of a crowd which shoves him along, or it may be simply habit—such as the habit of walking on the right side of the

How to Achieve Beauty

REDUCING RHYTHMICS FOR THE WAIST AND DIAPHRAGM

Among the first, the worst and the easiest places to accumulate fat is the waist, stomach and diaphragm. There is a general and incorrect supposition that the actual food we eat, which naturally deposits in the stomach, is to blame for this. Remember that while undoubtedly a diet is a very excellent thing, if you keep your body sufficiently active, you need not order by the calory. Of course, you must use common sense.

The average woman today doesn't spend much time or effort on exercises. A half-hour's exercise isn't to burn up three hearty meals with sodas and candy in between. That isn't logical, is it? However, today we're going to suppose that those dreadfully unused waist and diaphragm muscles have paid the penalty of neglect and are well padded with layers of flabby, hard-to-get-rid-of flesh. Your exercise is to be concentrated on the stomach for a time, until you normalize your figure.

For the first Rhythmic—open your window top and bottom, be sure that you have absolute freedom of movement and begin. Step forward with the right foot, bend the right knee, slowly bringing the left foot forward. Swing the weight of your body on the left foot and bring the right foot up to the left on the count of three.

Second exercise: Stand perfectly erect, bend at the waist, then bend the knees, doubling up in something of a jackknife bend. Then throw the body up in a quick movement. After four of these exercises, continue another four times, but make the movement of your body very slow when you unbend at the waist.

After a week's practice plan this exercise 10 times, eight times with quick movement and eight times very slowly and deliberately.

Now for the important floor exercises: Sit down on the floor. Slowly bend your body backward until your head touches the floor. Then raise your legs to a vertical position. This also is a slow exercise.

Sit on the floor, feet stretched directly in front. Very slowly, without touching your hands to the floor, lie down. First try this in four counts, then six, finally in eight. All of these exercises are to be done to music.

I have explained the importance of training your body to spontaneous rhythmic action, and I can assure you that with the inspiration of evenly marked beats to guide your action, you will find the exercises far less difficult than you would otherwise.

By the time you have mastered this first set of Rhythmics, your waist will most probably be decidedly less than it was when you started!

The Difference Between the Schick Test, Antitoxin and Toxin-American

A few years ago, after lowering my resistance by lack of sleep, writing ahead so I could go on my summer vacation, some sort of unfriendly germ took advantage of me and settled in my throat, producing great soreness and vicious looking membranous patches on the tonsils.

"Migosh!" I thought, as I examined it. "Is it possible I have diphtheria at this late stage of the game?" Then I had an immediate release from my anxiety when I remembered that a Schick test which I had taken, with a large number of nurses and doctors who were attending a lecture on the subject, was negative. That meant I was immune to diphtheria.

Schick Test Now, then, the Schick test is merely a test to see whether or not you are immune to diphtheria. More later.

Toxin-American

Toxin-Antitoxin, known as t. a. t. in medical parlance, is a treatment for the prevention of diphtheria. It is not a test, nor is it a treatment for diphtheria itself. More later.

Diphtheria Antitoxin Diphtheria antitoxin is the treatment, and the only scientific treatment—it is an immediate antidote—for the disease diphtheria itself. And it is also a treatment for its prevention in those who have been recently, or are being exposed to the disease, as nurses and doctors and those who are caring for cases. The t. a. t. is a preventive treatment, as I told you, but it takes a much longer time for the patient's own cells to develop the resistance or antibodies against the disease, and in these cases defense is needed right away.

Now I will tell you something about diphtheria; then you will understand more fully.

Diphtheria

Diphtheria is a very serious disease, oftentimes fatal unless the antitoxin is given very soon. It is caused by a germ known as the Klebs-Loeffler bacillus, after the discoverer. When this germ settles on the throat of a susceptible victim, it immediately begins to multiply. As germs reproduce themselves by dividing every twenty minutes, you can easily see that within a very short time, unless they are checked, there are millions of them. The germs remain located on parts of the throat, and they, with the reaction in the membrane, become visible to the eye as grayish-white patches.

Household Hints

HOUSEHOLD HINTS TUESDAY MENU HINT

During the spring months when, in spite of modern household helps, many things must be overhauled and extra cleaning done, it is well to plan meals that take a minimum of work to prepare. Creamed or frizzled dried beef are easily prepared dishes and taste well.

Creamed or Frizzled Dried Beef
Broiled Mushrooms
Coffee Whip

Coffee Whip—One and one-half cups strong coffee, one-half cup milk, two-thirds cup sugar, one tablespoon granulated gelatin, one-fourth teaspoon salt, three eggs, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Heat coffee and milk. Dissolve gelatin in a little cold water, add to coffee and milk. Add sugar, salt and yolks of eggs slightly beaten; cook until mixture thickens, add whites of eggs, beaten until stiff, add vanilla. Pour into a mold, chill and serve with whipped cream or with a custard.

es. Their poison—a very active poison—is absorbed by the blood, and it is to this that the fatal effects are mostly due. It is not believed that many germs get into the blood.

If, however, the membrane happens to extend into the windpipe, this may cause death by strangulation, unless an artificial tube is inserted to breathe through.

If the patient recovers, it is because his body has manufactured a defense or antitoxin which neutralizes the toxin. But do you dare risk waiting for that?

Schick Test Now we'll come back to the Schick test. This test consists simply of an injection of a tiny bit of the diphtheria poison—not the germs themselves—into the skin of the forearm. If you are naturally immune to diphtheria, you have an antitoxin already in your own blood, which immediately neutralizes the toxin, so there is not more reaction on the site of the injection than there would be from an injection of the same amount of pure water. If your blood does not contain the protective antitoxin, there is a little area of redness, and swelling which gradually subsides within a week or so, without making you ill in any way.

Tomorrow I'll tell you more about the t. a. t.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, is the one man in the United States who absolutely and unequivocally could have a presidential nomination if he wanted it.

If he chose, he could launch a third party movement in a minute, with himself as candidate. To be sure, the Progressives haven't been planning to put up an independent ticket this year, as they put up LaFollette and Wheeler in 1924, but they'd very readily do it if the Nebraska senator advised them to.

Inasmuch, then, as Norris could be nominated if he liked, and doesn't so much as bat an eyelid—which would be sufficient—he can hardly be considered an aspirant.

It won't do to speak of the Nebraska man as a "presidential possibility," either.

As pointed out above, he isn't a Progressive possibility—that is to say, certainly—because he won't permit himself to be. So that lets him out on that count.

He isn't a Democratic possibility, because he isn't a Democrat.

Some folks say the Progressives are as much Democrats as they are Republicans, but that isn't so.

Essentially they're a certain sort of Republicans.

Congressman Victor L. Berger established this pretty clearly once, in a speech in the house of representatives. Berger, from Wisconsin, is the house's Socialist.

"The Progressives," he said, "are the elephant's tail."

(An integral part of the criterion.)

"It's a sore tail," continued Berger, "and it makes the elephant sore, but, all being said and done, it's an appendage on the elephant."

On this basis, theoretically, Norris is eligible as a Republican presidential nominee, but as a matter of practical politics, even very small children know there isn't a chance in a trillion that the Republicans will nominate him.

Thus he can't be classed as any kind of a presidential possibility.

Notwithstanding all of which, you can't call the muster roll of those who are presidentially mentioned without hollering "George W. Norris," or you won't have a complete catalogue.

Not only is there sentiment in his favor but it's strong, as to quality, and not so negligible in quantity.

He'll go into the Kansas City convention with a sizeable handful of delegates—not enough to nominate him, but there are genuine "possibilities" who won't start off with as dependable a bunch of supporters. The others' backing will be more or less fluid, tending to flow around every which way. Norris' crowd will be first, last and all the while for Norris, or whatever he tells 'em to do, when the proper time comes.

He won't be nominated, but if things are close, he may have quite a lot to say about who is—or make a heap of trouble later.

Why, yes, he might turn right around and campaign for the Democratic presidential nominee if the Republican nominee doesn't suit him.

He does such things.

In 1926 he openly, without a sign of regret or compunction, went into Pennsylvania and fought like a wildcat for William B. Wilson, a Democrat, against Bill S. Vare, a Republican, for the senate—and would have carried that rock-ribbed Republican state for Wilson, too, if it hadn't been for Philadelphia.

Though a dry, he's already announced, in connection with the annual world before she married him, that he'll support a wet liberal against a dry reactionary.

That's just a hint at how he may act if the Kansas City result displeases him.

Norris has all known kinds of nerve, but in addition to that, he doesn't care a plugged nickel for anything that politics and the politicians can do for him—or to him.

This makes him utterly unmanagable. He can't be rewarded and he can't be frightened.

He just goes his own way, rip-snorting.

For a man who can't possibly be named for president, he enters a whole lot into the calculations of the politicians who hope to make the selection at the nominating convention.

"My Dear Mrs. Lee: I have been keeping company with a young gentleman for two years, and am very much in love with him. He has proposed marriage several times, but I told him that I could not consider it until he was able to support me as my father has done. It will be several years before he is through school and ready to go into business. He thinks that is too long, and accuses me of not caring. Recently he has grown cold in his attitude toward me, and last night I heard he was going with other girls. Please advise me what to do. ANXIOUS."

It didn't seem very ardent, I dare say, to the young man to have you put your marriage off all those years, especially as you stipulated that you wanted to be supported in the "style" to which you have been accustomed. Did your mother wait until your father had made his mark in the financial world before she married him? Doesn't it appeal to you to work with your lover to make his fortune? However, as he is still in school, it is probably better to wait until he is through and has a job. If he is not willing to work and wait and you prefer to wait, you had better let him go. Anxious.

"Tcheek! Tcheek! The very idea of having to go to bed so early!" grumbled Blackbird, as he alighted at the edge of the sweet-brier thicket.

Bob White came trotting along the path, evidently in a great hurry to get home. But he stopped by the sweet brier thicket a moment to speak to his friend.

"Perfectly ridiculous, I call it, Blackie," chirped Bob White, jerking his head as he chirped. "What in the world are we farmers to do now that Daylight Saving has gone into effect? It does not matter so much to the rest of you fellows who can work just as well one time of day as another, but the change of time puts me out dreadfully. I got up at daybreak this morning and went right at work tilling the field, but the air was too cool and the ground too damp to accomplish a thing. I couldn't pick up a squash-bus or a beetle until the day was older. They wouldn't come out of cover. Now look at the sun! It has a long way yet to go before it drops out of sight. I could do a lot more work before night comes! And Wood Thrush is already chiming the hour—five o'clock—when all good birds stop to rest. It must be five o'clock of course, although to me it seems much more like four in the afternoon!"

"Quit! Quit! Quit! Fussing about what can't help won't mend matters!" Cherry Flicker, overhearing the friends' complaining, flew to join them. "Of course it seems to you like four o'clock, Bob White, because it is four and no more. We birds don't have to keep to the new time schedule if we don't want to, you know. The Two-Legs can't make us! But I'll bet anything, Bob, you are tired out and quite ready to put your head under your wing, now aren't you?"

"Well, yes," admitted Bob White, slowly. "Now I think of it, I am! Come to figure it out. I have worked just as many hours today as usual only—"

"Only you hate to go to bed while it is still light!" White-Throated Sparrow took the words out of Bob White's mouth as he, too, joined the crowd by the thicket's edge. "Just wait until you're as old as I am and then you will be glad of an excuse to go to bed."

"Sam Peachbody, you are the laziest bird in the world. Now I am as good a sparrow as you are and I love to keep on the wing until the last moment before dusk. By-bye everyone. When I have to go to bed I will, but I do not intend to spend the last glorious moments squabbling about it. Chip, chip! How lovely the air is." Chip Sparrow gave his own opinion on the subject under discussion as he floated by over the other birds' heads without stopping.

"Spring of year! Spring of year! What do we care what time of day it is when spring is here? We are so happy that there's ought to upset us, especially a little thing like sleep-time. What difference does an hour more or less of daylight make, anyhow? Two happy larks waved their wings in greeting and sailed by.

Peter had been fishing in the brook on the other side of the thicket, and the birds couldn't see him but he could hear all they said and chuckled to himself.

"The birds do not seem to like daylight saving any more than Dad does," muttered he. "I wonder—"

Just then, beginning with a whisper and growing louder, arose a bird's song. And the music was so beautiful that Peter held his breath and forgot what he had been going to say.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

BEWARE—Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done thee no harm. Envy thou not the oppressor, and choose none of his ways.—Prov. 23:30, 31.

MUST BREAK UP "FENCES"

The National Crime commission's bill to ban interstate shipments of stolen property is one proposal that should be expected in the general opposition to placing additional authority and burdens on the Federal government.

While centralized federal authority weakens local state responsibility, there are a few things which the states find it practically impossible to do. One is to efficiently combat interstate transportation of stolen goods, and "fences." Vast quantities of values are stolen in one state, carted to another and sold to "fences" from which they are distributed throughout wide areas.

Coping with that situation is no one-state affair. It involves investigations and getting testimony in several states. The process is cumbersome and expensive, and conflict of jurisdiction opens many avenues of escape for the guilty.

Crime and theft have grown to appalling proportions in the United States. Passage of the National Crime Commission's bill to make it easier to cope with "fences," and more strict enforcement of present laws applying to crime and its punishment, would make the country safer for the honest, law-abiding citizen.

It is estimated that some $500,000,000 worth of stolen goods are disposed of annually through a well organized system of "fences."

The terrific loss to business due to theft is running a close race with fire as a destroyer of national wealth.

CHARACTER IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Much is being said of the importance of character training in educational institutions, from the greatest universities down to the smallest public school in the country.

The essentials of character building are being studied by Child Welfare associations and colleges for the training of students in university and post graduate courses.

The Dean of New York university speaks of character instruction as all-important and that it must never be made a mere classroom exercise, divorced from conduct and conscience.

Dr. John H. Denbigh of Parker Institute, Brooklyn, insists that in our social relationships behavior be made more enlightened, more consistent, more vigorous and less selfish.

Apply this need of stressing character and conduct to our political affairs and the conduct of public officials and we would have better standards in state and national affairs.

MOST EXPENSIVE CLUB

Selling at $357,000 recently, the price of seats on the New York Stock Exchange has doubled in a year's time. Five years ago the high price was $100,000, ten years ago they sold as low as $45,000 and fifty years ago as low as $4,000. At the present price the aggregate value of the 1,100 memberships totals upwards of $400,000,000, and the statement may be substantiated that the Exchange is now the "world's most expensive and richest club."

THE LUBRICATOR

A gasoline and oil dealer, operating a service garage in a certain town, has on his sign his name and the word, "Lubricator." If he is a "lubricator" he is following a very fine and useful occupation. This word needs more of them. There are some folks who simply will not fit into any group easily or smoothly. They are opinionated and determined to see that opinion through to victory. They lack tact and diplomacy. Put a lubricator in the group and the situation is saved and at least made tolerable. Even the truth should not be spoken at all times. Silence is frequently more desirable.

CRAZY?

It's well for us to take stock of ourselves now and then and discover the matters that we are at least a little crazy about. You see we are all doubtless a little off balance, all a little crazy. Royal Munger, writing in the Chicago Daily News, says:

"Almost every one is at least a little bit crazy, if we accept the term as meaning a perceptible deviation from normal. Some people hate cats, and others get hay fever if they see a picture of a wheat field. Jones is cross all day if his wife unfolds and musses the morning newspaper before he does. Smith can stand most kinds of trouble with a smile, but is likely to insult his best friends if his dinner is delayed half an hour beyond the usual time. Wilkins is reasonable on most subjects, but spendthrift habits make him frantic and he says he would drive his own son out of doors if he caught him living beyond his means. All these are slight abnormalities, but the only line dividing them from insanity is that the same have enough common sense to catch themselves when they get beyond the point of ordinarily sensible behavior."

REMEMBRANCE

One might be greatly surprised if he could look in, unobserved, upon the heart of an average, hum-drum, office-working business man. There are so many things in the hearts of the busiest men and women which are undisclosed to the world. No matter who you are, or where you are, you have an inner life into which no one can quite enter. Perhaps that is human nature, or perhaps that is the divine part in every one of us. Says one of America's sweetest poets:

"I fancy he saw something in the clouds above the trees,
Which the gold and glory seeker passes by and never sees,
And I think he gathered something from the woods and running streams,
Which is just as good as money to the man of many dreams."

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK, April 12. — One does not get a true perspective of the piles of stone and steel that bear the name New York, until one has seen them from the air. From the Woolworth Tower, a human is as insignificant as a fly, from a plane 5,000 feet up, moving 125 miles an hour, the same tower is as unimpressive as a city hall in Lexington, Ky. From the air the city's enchantment is enhanced, and one discovers beauties hidden to the wanderer in the skyscraper canyons.

The Daily Worker, published by the Communist party, recently attacked New York dramatic critics because they made fun of "Hoboken Blues," written by a Communist and supposed to be a serious revolutionary play. The Worker explained to its readers that of course the critics were vindictive in their reports because they were hirelings of capitalism. "The interests" would not allow such a play to survive.

Possibly the Worker didn't know that "Hoboken Blues" was produced with money generously advanced by Otto H. Kahn, head of one of the greatest banking houses in the world, and renowned patron of the arts, Kahn is the "angel," or financial banker, of numerous "art" theatrical ventures.

Pity the poor millionaire who lives in the country! Roads are so congested with auto traffic that his limousine has to move at a snail's pace going to and from the city. Some wealthy residents of Long Island are avoiding this by commuting in fast motor boats. Harrison Williams, New York banker, is building a 90-mile-an-hour hydroplane, to bring him to his Manhattan office from his Glen Cove, L. I., estate. Another Long Islander makes frequent trips to and from his estate in a seaplane.

In New York the most popular name for girl babies this season appears to be Patricia. Last year it was Barbara, and the year before, Gloria.

The circus isn't what it used to be. While the glittering wagons of the "world's greatest show" were being pulled by hired horses into Madison Square Garden for the final rehearsals before opening the season, the biggest circus man of them all, John Ringling, was up at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, buying Greek antiquities for his home, in Sarasota, Fla.

The horses that pulled the wagons were not prancing Belgians, Percherons and Clydesdales, sleek and dreadnaught-footed, but ill-assorted, bony, unkempt equines such as circus agents were able to find here and there in the city. The circus is going to be here a month, and the efficiency expert of the organization figured it'd be cheaper to hire horses than to feed the regulars here for four weeks.

Whenever the Harlem society arranges a ball, they try to keep it secret in order to avoid being panned off their own floor by white visitors. The other evening, at the long awaited South Sea Isle Night in the great Savoy ballroom, at Lenox avenue and 141st street, there were almost as many white as black dancers.

In describing it, use of the term riot of color is certainly appropriate. The grotesque costume crosses and bizarre atmosphere made it seem like an "Arabian Nights" fantasy. With 3,000 in the crowd, there was no trouble. This seemed to me to be extraordinary, considering the fact that a lot of the whites, many of them notables, seemed looking for trouble.

HUMAN ANTS

Sometimes when I watch a party of ordinary black ants proceeding excitedly about their chores, dashing here and there, retracing their steps in rattle-brained fashion, seemingly without any definite plan, I wonder if the average ant is not somewhat overestimated.

Regardless of all the marvelous intelligence attributed to them to impress a thoughtful, unbiased observer as being stupid beyond by scientists, ants are quite likely all necessity. They are industrious, as everybody concedes, energetic and thrifty, but are they truly efficient? Apparently they have a predisposition toward lost motion, and do a lot of running around to no purpose. They behave as creatures willing enough to be on the job, but lacking proper supervision from the main office.

Yet, on the other hand, we may be doing the ants an injustice. Maybe they know exactly what they're about. If we go according to more outward symptoms — movements to and fro and up and down on the earth — human being seem scarcely more systematic or logical than ants.

Ballooning, aviators, and other persons in the habit of roaming the skies, often come to have almost a contempt for mere humans because of our foolish appearance of ant-like aimlessness when seen in the mass.

Nevertheless, people do move about according to law and reason. An individual may not know why he is going in a certain direction, but some force directs his footsteps. The force may be the impetus of a crowd which shoves him along, or it may be simply habit—such as the habit of walking on the right side of the

Among the first, the worst and the easiest places to accumulate fat is the waist, stomach and diaphragm.

There is a general and incorrect supposition that the actual food we eat, which naturally deposits in the stomach, is to blame for this. Remember that while undoubtedly a diet is a very excellent thing, if you keep your body sufficiently active, you needn't order by the calory. Of course, you must use common sense.

The average woman today doesn't spend much time or effort on exercises. A half-hour's exercise isn't to burn up three hearty meals with sodas and candy in between. That isn't logical, is it?

However, today we're going to suppose that those dreadfully unused waist and diaphragm muscles have paid the penalty of neglect and are well padded with layers of flabby, hard-to-get-rid-of flesh. Your exercise is to be concentrated on the stomach and diaphragm, until you normalize your figure.

RESERVE RECRUITS WILL GET TRIAL SUNDAY; CONLEY BACK

Weather permitting, candidates for the Xenia Reserve Baseball Club will play a practice game Sunday afternoon at Washington Park, according to no less authority than Manager Jesse Chambliss, who has not disclosed the name of the team intended as the victim.

"Jug" Conley, hard-hitting second baseman, who started off with Harshmanville last season and wound up in a Reserve uniform, has been selected to captain the local diamond outfit this year. It is announced on the same authority.

This will be good news to Xenia baseball fans as Conley is considered one of the best semi-pro players in this neck of the woods. He is especially famous for his hard slugging. He practically led the team at bat last season.

Four prospective wearers of a Reserve uniform will be given tryouts Sunday afternoon, to wit: one Leonard Schliff, a pitcher by reputation; Ed Coy, doctored as an outfielder; Wright, a shortstop, but no relation to the Pittsburgh player; and a Mr. Brollo, who covers first base in his spare time.

These and other aspirants to a berth on the local nine will endeavor to demonstrate to the Reserve management exactly why they should be retained on the team throughout the season.

A number of Washington C. H. sportsmen attended the affair.

No business was transacted. Members discussed the future of the new state fish hatchery to be constructed on property formerly owned by Dr. D. E. Spahr on the Springfield Pike, north of Xenia.

TWO PENNANT RACES SIMMERING DOWN TO ROUTINE BUSINESS

NEW YORK, April 12.—As the excitement of opening day wore off, the two pennant races simmered down today to the prosaic level of routine business.

Rookies grabbed a large share of the spotlight in the various inaugurations. Andy Cohen stepped into Roger Hornsby's shoes on the New York Giants and found them too small, for his three hits gave the Giants a 5 to 2 victory over Hoinsby and his fellow Braves. Arthur Whitney, rookie third baseman from New Orleans, knocked in two runs as the Phillies downed Brooklyn, 4 to 3. Other recruits who performed brilliantly were Chalmers Cissell, White Sox shortstop, Freddy Maguire, Cubs' second baseman, who hit a home run; Purdy of the Reds; Roettger of the Cardinals and Morgan of Cleveland.

The world's champion Yankees, determined to stay in first place every day of the season for the second year in succession, routed Lefty Grove and beat the Athletics, 8 to 3.

Thirty-one base hits rent the ozone as the Cardinals took a 14 to 7 slugfest from the Pirates. Frisch and Bottomley each got three hits, including a homer.

Adolfo Luque, Cincinnati mound ace, tamed the Cubs, 5 to 1. George Uhle, the Cleveland pitcher who makes a good record every year in succession, apparently is in for a winning campaign. He beat the White Sox, 8 to 2.

George Moriarty, Detroit manager, spent the afternoon wondering why he traded Heine Marnish to the St. Louis Browns. The former batting king scored two runs as the reconstructed Browns trounced the Tigers 4 to 1. Sam Gray, who twirled for St. Louis, displayed the form which once made him the ace of the Philadelphia staff.

The sojourn of the Boston Red Sox in first place in the American League standing was sweet but short. Four Sox pitchers issued ten passes and the Back Bay boys lost to Washington, 8 to 4. Ken Williams got three hits including a home run.

Philadelphia's victory over Brooklyn marked the Robins' first defeat on opening day in eight years.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Walden, care-takers of the K. of P. Home motored to Urbana, O., Friday evening where their daughter, Miss Frances, spent her Easter vacation. They were accompanied by Mrs. Bertha Booth and Mrs. Arthur Taylor who visited Mrs. Booth's father, Mr. Calvin Hatcher of the Masonic Home. Mr. Hatcher has been much improved physically but suffered a relapse recently and his condition since has given no encouragement.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Taken nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

La Fendrich a fine Cigar

Class!

To men of class and alertness, the fine La Fendrich cigar is one of the choicest of life's luxuries.

To maintain their standing and favor with men of class, only so many of the fine La Fendrich are ever made as the fine, mellow, old tropic-flavored tobaccos of highest quality can be had for them—and no more.

Nothing Better

Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt selects OLD GOLD

MRS. REGINALD C. VANDERBILT

"I wonder if one can really tell the difference, when blindfolded," was my first thought when invited to make this test.

"After smoking the four brands, as they were handed to me one after another, I discovered there was one that was noticeably smoother than the others and richer in taste.

"This proved to be an OLD GOLD. I hope I shall be able to buy them in Paris . . . they are surprisingly free from any trace of throat irritation and have a delightful aroma which to me is very important."

How

Test Was Made

Mrs. Vanderbilt was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke . . . To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette . . . Mrs. Vanderbilt was unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test . . . After smoking the four cigarettes, Mrs. Vanderbilt was asked to designate by number her choice . . . She immediately replied: "Number 3" . . . which was OLD GOLD.

Why can you pick them in the dark? . . . Because they're made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel—41c. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Nothing Better

Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt selects OLD GOLD

MRS. REGINALD C. VANDERBILT

"I wonder if one can really tell the difference, when blindfolded," was my first thought when invited to make this test.

"After smoking the four brands, as they were handed to me one after another, I discovered there was one that was noticeably smoother than the others and richer in taste.

"This proved to be an OLD GOLD. I hope I shall be able to buy them in Paris . . . they are surprisingly free from any trace of throat irritation and have a delightful aroma which to me is very important."

Reginald C. Vanderbilt

How Test Was Made

Mrs. Vanderbilt was blindfolded, and in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke . . . To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette . . . Mrs. Vanderbilt was unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test . . . After smoking the four cigarettes, Mrs. Vanderbilt was asked to designate by number her choice . . . She immediately replied: "Number 3" . . . which was OLD GOLD.

C. W. MURPHY AGAIN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF COUNTRY CLUB

Chalmers W. Murphy was re-elected president of the Xenia Country Club for 1928 at the organization meeting of the board of directors, which immediately followed the annual stockholders meeting at the clubhouse Wednesday night.

Other officers were also re-elected for another term of one year, including H. L. Sayre, vice president, and E. H. Heathman, secretary-treasurer. It is expected that an assistant secretary will be elected at an early meeting to succeed Walter Jobe, who is no longer in Xenia.

The new directorate, elected at the stockholders meeting, is composed of Mrs. Mary M. Meredith, C. W. Murphy, H. L. Sayre, E. H. Heathman, W. C. Craig, Andrew Haninger, S. M. McKay, and Dr. E. J. Reynolds. Mrs. Meredith is the only new director elected, succeeding Jobe.

The stockholders meeting was better attended than last year and it is estimated that sixty-five members participated in the voting.

No date has been fixed for the club's formal opening, but it is hoped to be held late in April.

Andrew Haninger was reappointed chairman of the greens committee.

Local golfers expect that the permanent greens on the nine-hole course will be available either Saturday or Sunday. At present temporary greens are being used.

The club still retains its connection with the Dayton District Golf Association and intends to participate in matches being arranged for the summer months. Each club in the association will be eligible to enter a team of four players in the various district tournaments.

Secretary Heathman and President Murphy recently attended a meeting of the organization. An open meeting will be held at Piqua this month.

WHAT A RIDE THAT WAS

DETROIT.—Edward Griffith, of Grand Rapids, came to visit Detroit. Then he engaged Owen Lane's taxi-cab, settled back luxuriously, and ordered: "Drive me back to Grand Rapids." Lane stepped on the gas. Contentedly they sped on. At Grand Rapids, Lane carefully registered in his mind the $58 indicated on the meter and solicitously helped his passenger to alight. But Griffith began to walk away without mentioning the trivial sum of the fare. When Lane failed to persuade him to produce the money, he chuckled him back into the cab, locked the door, wheeled the car around, and headed back to Detroit and police headquarters.

City Jail "Angel"

"Freckled-faced angel," is the title bestowed upon Alice Marie Hall, 18, of Richmond, Ind., by her fellow prisoners in the Cleveland, O., city jail. Arrested on a charge of defrauding a hotel of four days' board, Alice, actress, toe dancer and acrobat had $11. Two days later she had spent it all on meals and dainties for jail inmates.

NIECE OF PERRY DIES

COSHOCTON, O., April 12.—Burial of Mrs. Caroline Grier, 90, niece of Oliver Hazard Perry, hero of Lake Erie, was being arranged here today, following her death at the Methodist Protestant Home at West Lafayette, near here, late yesterday. Burial will be made at Pittsburgh.

Catarrhal Deafness Unnecessary

In catarrhal deafness there is a constant inflammation of the little air passage from throat to ear. This partially closes this tube, so the air cannot pass freely, and the result is distressing, rumbling noises, feeling of fullness and dulled hearing. MUSICAL TASTE OF "RAMPANT AGE" IS SAME AS BUSHMAN MORGAN DECLARES

The taste of young people of the day in their choice of dance music is the same as that of the bushman, Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, told delegates at the convention dinner of the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs and the Ohio Music Teachers Association in Dayton Wednesday night.

"It seems to me that the exaggerated rhythm to which our young people keep step in dance must be degenerating in character and effect undesirable changes both mentally and physically," he said. "I know that there are people who believe that 'canned music,' that which is furnished through the phonograph and the radio, is not desirable. Its imperfection arouses criticism."

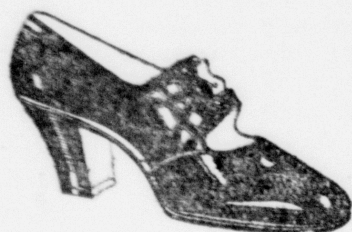

"The Nike of Samothrace, headless, armless, no longer that perfect thing which once left the hand of the sculptor, still shows his great concept. I feel that the beauty of selections of great composers, imperfect through their interpreted structure, may have enough of the original concept in them to lead the young people of the day away from 'popular' music."

Dr. Morgan expressed his belief that the colleges of the country should effect a cultural background for their students and train them in the appreciation of things aesthetic as well as practical. "Europeans can specialize in their universities for their cultural background of 2,000 years, leads to them a knowledge of many things which are lacking in the United States," he declared.

Extra Profit on Corn
$90 per Acre

NONE BETTER THAN "AA QUALITY" . . . Mr. G. A. Wagner, of Marietta, Washington County, Ohio, says: "Enclosed please find the pictures which were taken of my three-acre corn field, which will make one hundred bushels to the acre. I have always used 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer and think there is none better. I shall continue to use it. Corn sold at $1.30 a bushel and my increased yield of 60 bushels per acre will give me a profit of $90.00 per acre."—October 12th, 1927.

"AA QUALITY" FERTILIZER A GOOD INVESTMENT . . . Mr. Harry W. Beck, of Tiffin, Seneca Co., Ohio, says: "I have been growing corn for the past 25 years. I never used fertilizers till this Spring on corn and potatoes. The results others had from the use of 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers for corn and potatoes—larger crops and the advantage of ripe corn before frost came—convinced me it was good business to fertilize my corn, as I have had trouble getting it ripe before frost injured it for seed corn. This year I will get 87 bushels of shelled corn per acre. I can recommend your 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers. They are a mighty good investment."—October 21, 1927.

12 BUSHELS MORE CORN PER ACRE . . . Mr. Eugene Reibel, of Piquette, Posey Co., Ind., says: "I used 200 lbs. per acre of 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer in 1927. When I gathered the corn I weighed six rows of fertilized and six rows of unfertilized corn. I figure that the fertilizer gave me a gain of 12 bushels of corn per acre, and I expect to sell the fertilized corn for seed, as it is firm and solid. This field was manured heavily, and made 70 bushels per acre. This proves that fertilizer can be used successfully with fertile soil which has been manured."—December 19, 1927.

The right fertilizer means more profit to the grower. Note the experience of Mr. G. A. Wagner, of Marietta, Washington Co., Ohio. Last season he used "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer. The result was an increased yield of 60 bushels of corn per acre, which sold for $1.50 a bushel—or $90 extra profit for each acre of corn.

It is the extra yield per acre of corn, potatoes or any other crop that writes the extra entries in the bank book. Scores of enthusiastic letters come to us from successful growers who use "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers and get extra yields and extra profits.

The letters printed here—a few of the thousands received—are from prominent and successful growers. These growers used sound farming methods and "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers—the best fertilizers obtainable.

Read these letters. They speak of facts and tell of results.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers are painstakingly and scientifically made for each crop and each locality. They are manufactured by the largest fertilizer company in the world.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers are completely mixed, cured and remilled to ensure perfect mechanical condition. Experts in crop culture have determined their exact plant-food elements.

Insist that your dealer give you "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers this season. You will get a larger yield from your acres—and a better yield too.

LAND NECESSARY TO PIKE IMPROVEMENT

Unable to reach a satisfactory agreement in some instances with property owners, County Commissioners have begun condemnation proceedings to acquire land needed in connection with the proposed improvement of sections of I. OIL MEN CALLED IN TRIAL OF SINCLAIR

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Those who tried—and failed—to secure the highly prized lease on the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve will be brought forward today to add their testimony to the damaging evidence already adduced against Harry F. Sinclair.

Fall to defraud the nation of the oil field, and the prosecution plans today to show the jury he got the lease to the exclusion of a number of other responsible firms that actually tried to submit bids.

Federal Prosecutor Owen J. Roberts had half a dozen oil men under subpoena ready to testify they wired in, wrote in, and even appeared in person at Fall's office in a futile effort to get information relative to Fall's policy with respect to the naval oil reserves and whether it would be possible to acquire leases.

STORED CORN BEST SEED TESTS SHOW

Tests made at the seed corn testing station in Xenia indicate clearly that most crib and shock selected corn is unfit for seed, but that corn selected last fall and stored carefully will prove very satisfactory. J. R. Kimber, county agent, discloses.

About 11,000 ears have been tested at the Xenia station and germination has run from 65 to 98 per cent with the average about 85 per cent. "Think what 85 per cent germination means to your stand of corn. By eliminating the dead and diseased ears you are insuring a good stand," Mr. Kimber warns farmers.

The Xenia station is still ready to receive corn and it can be brought in any time during April. The station at Alpha, is also in operation.

GIRL FLIES WEST

NEW YORK, April 12.—Miss Ruth Nichols, society girl and licensed seaplane pilot, who recently completed a non-stop flight from New York to Miami, Florida, will accompany Richard Dewey, Jr., vice-president of an airplane manufacturing company, when he starts his "non-stop" trip from Times Square to Woodward Avenue, Detroit, today.

STORED CORN BEST SEED TESTS SHOW

Tests made at the seed corn testing station in Xenia indicate clearly that most crib and shock selected corn is unfit for seed, but that corn selected last fall and stored carefully will prove very satisfactory. J. R. Kimber, county agent, discloses.

About 11,000 ears have been tested at the Xenia station and germination has run from 65 to 98 per cent with the average about 85 per cent. "Think what 85 per cent germination means to your stand of corn. By eliminating the dead and diseased ears you are insuring a good stand," Mr. Kimber warns farmers.

The Xenia station is still ready to receive corn and it can be brought in any time during April. The station at Alpha, is also in operation.

OHIO PEN CHAPLAIN
WANTS MAGAZINES,
BOOKS FOR CONVICTS

Wanted: Books, magazines and reading matter of all description for the diversion of prisoners confined in Ohio State Penitentiary.

This appeal is being broadcast by Chaplain T. O. Reed, penitentiary librarian, who discloses the prison is unable to purchase reading material for the men since funds are not available for that purpose.

Calling attention to the fact there are thousands of unfortunate men confined in the penitentiary, Chaplain Reed declares the prison library has a large circulation, in conjunction with which it has what is known as National Intra-Wall Institute, a correspondence school maintained without cost to the inmates. It is designed for those inmates who desire to better themselves by procuring an education.

Chaplain Reed, in making a state-wide appeal for reading matter for the prisoners, declares the penitentiary will gladly pay freight charges on all shipments, but is not permitted to pay parcel post or express charges.

Shipments should be made to Chaplain T. O. Reed, Ohio State Penitentiary, Columbus, and sender is requested to affix a return address, so that the penitentiary can acknowledge the receipt of each shipment with a letter of appreciation.

OHIO PEN CHAPLAIN WANTS MAGAZINES, BOOKS FOR CONVICTS

Wanted: Books, magazines and reading matter of all description for the diversion of prisoners confined in Ohio State Penitentiary.

This appeal is being broadcast by Chaplain T. O. Reed, penitentiary librarian, who discloses the prison is unable to purchase reading material for the men since funds are not available for that purpose.

Calling attention to the fact there are thousands of unfortunate men confined in the penitentiary, Chaplain Reed declares the prison library has a large circulation, in conjunction with which, it has what is known as National Intra-Wall Institute, a correspondence school maintained without cost to the inmates. It is designed for those inmates who desire to better themselves by procuring an education.

Chaplain Reed, in making a state-wide appeal for reading matter for the prisoners, declares the penitentiary will gladly pay freight charges on all shipments, but is not permitted to pay parcel post or express charges.

Shipments should be made to Chaplain T. O. Reed, Ohio State Penitentiary, Columbus, and sender is requested to affix a return address, so that the penitentiary can acknowledge the receipt of each shipment with a letter of appreciation.

The Theater

The intelligentsia seems to regard Charley Chaplin as the leading exponent of the subtle art of screen comedy. Everything he does is accepted in high glee as another example of a superior ability to create laughs. This reviewer, hoping not to bore, begs to differ at the risk of being called provincial.

The British Tommie character is created for him, and if he doesn't make the best of it we'll never write for this column again. Of course there will be plenty of folks to defend Charley and if you got anything to say about it, just write it and send it in. We'll promise publication.

For dinner, one hard boiled egg, soup, vegetable and tomatoes.

UMBRELLA MENDERS BLAME AUTOMOBILE FOR BUSINESS SLUMP

BRIDGEPORT, O., April 12.—The automobile is responsible for a business depression noted by umbrella menders, according to Louis Alexander Robinson, Wheeling man who tours northern West Virginia and eastern Ohio trying to keep accidents from getting wet because of leaky umbrellas or mad because of failure of the raising mechanism to function.

The automobile is blamed because it provides transportation from home or office direct to the door of home, store or theater that the average person desires to visit, Robinson states. Unless an extremely hard rain is falling, the average person can dash from car to door or vice versa, dodging rain drops quite successfully. Hence, the umbrella is not so much in demand.

Robinson made this statement while repairing a torn umbrella cover shortly after noon one day recently when a March snow of February blizzard intensity but of April shower dampness was falling. Although he had tramped all morning the ringing of his bell had attracted only one repair job previously that day. And the condition was not unusual. However, in view of industrial conditions, few umbrella menders are getting into other lines of work.

Recovering of the shower sticks is no longer profitable. The low price at which new umbrellas are turned out make it inadvisable for anyone to invest in a new cover unless the handle is especially valuable.

SPRING VALLEY

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Knop Thursday.

The Easter market was a success this year.

Easter service was held at the Friends' Church. A pascent "Joy Of His Morning" was given and Rev. E. L. Portis preached on Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dyche spent their Easter vacation at their home here.

Mrs. Lena Barrett, of Dayton, was a Spring Valley visitor Saturday.

Mr. Riley Saylor, principal of the grade building, threw his left arm out of place in a boxing match Monday.

Several from here attended the Easter Cantata at Centerville, Sunday night.

The funeral of W. E. Griffy was held at the Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Fannie Allen, who has been spending the winter here, returned to her sons, in Dayton, Monday.

LITTLE INTEREST

BELLAIRE, O., April 11.—That voters in this section are taking little interest in the presidential primary is indicated by reports from the Belmont County board of elections. Not a single application for absentee voters ballot has been received.

MUSICIANS SNAPPED FOR FIRST TIME

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bohnen, both famous musicians, were lured in front of the camera together for the first time while sojourning in Atlantic City. You know it cannot

ARE you one of those unfortunate ones who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"After suffering several years, six bottles of S.S.S. completely relieved me of rheumatism. It also cleared up a skin eruption and gave me a good appetite. I think S.S.S. is a wonderful medicine."—R. L. Busie, Southern Railway, Knoxville, Tenn.

"I was very nervous, had hardly any appetite, and suffered with rheumatism. I tried many medicines, but S.S.S. is the one that did me the most good. I am now well, and feel like a new man."—William Osborne, 2406 Sloan Street, Flint, Michigan.

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.
